News from Our Alumni

Hello! It is Rümeyşanur Çayırılı...

I am a graduate of '18 from Istanbul Gelişim University, Applied Sciences Faculty, Public Relations and Advertising.

After graduation, I started working at Istanbul Gelişim University Health, Culture and Sports Department as "Event Operation Specialist." I have always had a special interest in event management. This is why I am now working in an "creative event" agency as event coordinator. I have been using in my job what I have learnt both theoretically and practically throughout my 4-year education with integrating.

Throughout my BA degree education, I went to Poland with Erasmus+ student's exchange program in the 2016-2017 fall semester. I am so appreciative of the year I have spent there. As a communicator, to encounter new cultures and icons was so helpful for me. The Erasmus+ coordinator office and the departmental coordinators helped so much in the process of before going and the after the exchange program which made it easier for me to enjoy my time in Poland.

The corporate and practical courses that I had in 4 years, which were in the Department of Public Relations and Advertising, helped us to adapt easily to the sector after graduation. The theoretical education we had served a role for practical courses beforehand. We had a chance to get practical knowledge in our school years. The projects we had are like a preview of the real world. The departmental professors spent so much labor for 4 years on us who are head of the department Asst. Prof. Emel Tozlu Öztay, Res. Asst. Nevra Üçler, and Res. Asst. Engincan Yıldız. I would like to thank them for enlightening our paths and their belief in us.

Interview

NTV Washington DC Correspondent Mr. Hüseyin Günay:

"When we look worldwide, the only weapon of television journalism against social media is being truthful, trustful, and unbiased!"

Dear Hüseyin Günay, we would like to thank you for accepting our interview offer from overseas. I want to ask the questions right away. What would you say about today's TV journalism and its future? What is the effect of thematic news on TV channels' journalism?

Television journalism is under construction and change. This change, both happens in the entertainment/knowledge/tracking device and writing news ability that may be detected. Television has become a device to spare time, yesterday is not like that because there is no alternative to it. For today's people, it is expired to wait for a production. You are able to reach far away with smart devices and social media devices that enable it to be accessible. There is no need to look away, just ask yourself this question, what is your current television watching duration compared to 5 year ago.

The same problem occurs for the television journalism as well, to wait until the broadcasting of the news, the content and the style of the news's dependence to the editor, the audiences' disappearance makes television journalism less desirable.

Interview

When we look worldwide, the only weapon of television journalism against social media is being truthful, trustful, and unbiased! The ones who cannot meet the conditions turn into a monitor which is followed by certain groups.

Thematic television channels meet the need of getting information for a long time. The thematic channels which centered around economics, sports, music, and news made their owners earn money and made their audiences satisfied. In today's world, it has also changed, they are not that profitable anymore compared to old days and they have become so minor in many places. There is no doubt, if both television and television journalism want to be a charming point, they should recharge themselves, change themselves, be authentic and fast. In spite of the negative atmosphere mentioned above, television news has been seen as the first source for getting information. This is why it is important to how it will be analyzed for the process both for television and television journalism for their future.

Apart from your explanation, what is the digitalization's effect on TV news content and application?

Digitalization creates a positive effect on traditional journalism. The long sentences give their places to simple and short ones. The contents get rich and long paragraphs leave their places to simple ones. On the other hand, digital settings have become a place for sharing news and the sources. There is a new trend in the USA named "Fact Check" which is not in Turkey, that enables you to check the interviews simultaneously, which makes lying harder than ever in front of the cameras!

Interview

There are also risks of digitalization, for example the challenge of getting exact information! Information pollution helps lies to spread more. Here, both the viewer and the journalist should not forget to look critically and search more for. For writing news, there are two sources needed, asking for two different opinions. From now on, viewers and audiences should not also forget to believe what they see for the first time, but should reach for many sources for clarification. Or else, someday humans can believe that aliens invade the world.

Digitalization offers many benefits to independent journalists, enabling them to establish their own platforms to earn money. As it is not possible to resist the technology, it is not evitable to resist the digitalization so that television journalism needs to find a way to use digital platforms effectively. And, from now on, we should get rid of the click traps (clickbait)! I have never seen such a method which is so far away from creativity!

Clickbait headlines could be so annoying... Mr. Günay, lastly, what would you suggest for the students of TV Journalism who want to improve themselves?

Being a journalist requires a dynamic life. It is classic but you may see when you experience it that it is not a job but a lifestyle which remains 24/7. Furthermore, you should not forget that you should have many skills such as writing news, editing, video recording, reading perform which is your main job. You will see the difference after putting more beside them.

Interview

Do not wait to graduate from your Bachelor's, it would be so late! The saving of yours help in this occupation! Additionally, "just read..." You should know what others do not know. You should search for different sources. And, most importantly, you should smile, because you should keep your positivity in a negative environment. Stay positive and have hobbies that will keep you smiling.

The sentences like the sector is hard, there is no job, needs a contact to enter, always remain, I am sure there is still. I am a son of a retired plumber, and have no contact, so there is no reason for you to find a job like mine. You should only be ready to work hard and show this.

Dear Hüseyin Günay, you have shared valuable information so our students will benefit from it... We would like to thank you and wish you more success...

It is a pleasure for me if it is beneficial... I would like to thank Istanbul Gelişim University Applied Sciences Faculty students and send my compliments...

Mr. Hüseyin Günay graduated from the Communication and Media Department, at Istanbul University and he also completed his Master's degree in International Business at London Metropolitan University. Being a journalist in Turkey, England, and USA, he is now working for NTV Television as Washington DC correspondent for 6 years. Spending his work hours at the White House, he enjoys traveling such as to Cuba, Jamaica, and Iceland.
