Immigrant children will not forget what they've gone through for a lifetime

Noting that the events during the migration will increase the mental burden on children, Psychiatrist Assoc. Prof. Dr. Sevcan Karakoç Demirkaya said: "Even if children survive in the migration route, they will not forget what they've gone through for a lifetime. Suffering from both homesickness and the loss of parents and other loved ones is especially pathological."

Greek soldiers intervened with gas bombs to immigrants waiting around Pazarkule Border Gate. Particularly women and children affected by the brawl and gas experienced hard times. From time to time, Greek soldiers tried to disperse people including women and children, who were waiting in front of the Pazarkule Border Gate and the wire mesh around it by throwing tear gas bombs. Psychiatrist from Istanbul Gelisim University Assoc. Prof. Dr. Sevcan Karakoç Demirkaya talking on the effects of migration on children, said: "Even if children survive the migration route, they will carry the feelings of "being left behind" and "being a migrant" for a lifetime. Mourning from the homeland is especially pathological when the loss of parents and other loved ones is added. This, in turn, makes it difficult to adapt to the newly established order and the migrated area."

Future is on the companies investing in innovation and R&D

MARCH 04, 2020

Emphasizing that BIST 100 index started in the highest level in 2020, and the rise of the domestic and foreign interest in Turkish Financial Stock Market, Finance Specialist Dr. Hakan Yıldırım said: "Especially between January 14 and February 17, it is seen that the index tries to hold on to 120,000 points and targets higher. However, even though the coronavirus, which affects China, one of the largest financial markets in the world, negatively affects the world markets, the Syrian crisis has reduced the performance of the BIST 100 index."

Yıldırım pointed out that the biggest indicator of this is rising prices of gold, which is the safest investment tool, at the end of February, and added: "However, the impact of coronavirus is expected to be broken in the coming months and its impact in the world financial markets will decrease. Again, it can be said that the market welcomed by the reactions given by Turkey in Syria. Both Russia and Turkey's mutual releases is lowering pressure. Again, the uptrend trend in the world stock markets that started in March and the decrease in gold prices in line with this situation, indicates that investors will return to the stock market again."
