10 KEY POINTS FOR EFFECTIVE COMMUNICATION IN A JOB INTERVIEW

The job interviews have a structure that may affect the lives of individuals at an important degree. The Academic Member Dr. Zeynep Burcu Şahin, who said that the job interviews may be fruitful and effective upon acquirement of experience on effective communication, told about what should be done and not done at an interview in 10 steps.

In the first meeting with someone else, an opinion is formed up in a short period of time. The individual, most of the time, may not know about the source of this opinion. The brain analyses and transmits various numbers of matters from the body language up to the way of dressing, accessories used and tone of voice felt of the person standing in face of it. Leaving a positive or negative impression on somebody happens within a short period of time. The Academic Member Dr. Zeynep Burcu Şahin from the Department of the Public Relations and Publicity of the Faculty of the Applied Sciences of the Istanbul Gelisim University (IGU), who indicated that it might be possible to go through a successful job interview upon application of effective modes of communication in order to leave a good and sound impression at job interviews, further emphasized that there were the channels of expressions through the body language apart from the oral communication.

CORDIALITY; MOST DIFFICULT FEELING TO IMITATE

It is necessary not to disregard that the standing, way of looking, tone of voice and emphasises are a kind of reflection of the state of mind. The Academic Member Dr. Zeynep Burcu Şahin, who indicated that the most difficult feeling to imitate in a communication is the cordiality by saying "Even if the person in face of us does not have any knowledge about the reading of a body language, he/she will sense or perceive our cordiality and reliability to a great extent in an instinctive manner", further emphasized that the non-verbal communication does not only consist of the body language, gestures and mimics used, and it would be possible for the colours preferred, accessories used and conformance of the dressing preferences to the available ambience to give opinion about the individual.

THINGS TO DO OR NOT TO DO IN A JOB INTERVIEW

1- Arrive in the place of interview 10 minutes in advance

The arrival in the places of the job interviews 10 minutes in advance of the indicated time will give a short period of time to you for getting prepared. On the other hand, it should not be forgotten that the waiting rooms are the areas convenient for observation.

2- Listen to the person in face of you

For an effective communication, you have to listen to the person in face of you. Turn all the time and entirely to the person(s), with whom you talk.

3- Use a clear and comprehensible language

You should use a clear and comprehensible language while talking. Let your voice reflect your self-confidence. Avoid from using the expressions having questionable meanings or and being rarely known.

4- Do not go unprepared for the interview

Have a good command in your subject matter; however, be honest on the matter when you come face to face with a question, of which answer is unknown to you.

5- Be open to criticisms

Take necessary attention and care to the criticisms as well as verbal and non-verbal reactions.

6- Let your hand be free and apparent all the time

Keeping your hand under the table and in your pockets may give a feeling of the lack of confidence in the person standing in face of you.

7- Make gestures at convenient degree and dimension

Comfortable and sound gestures will reflect your self-confidence and good command in the subject matter. Keep away from involvement in nervous and tense gestures.

8- Make an eye contact

A convenient eye contact; it constitutes an indication of interest and confidence on the one hand and ensure that you keep the attention of the person in face of you alive on the other.

9- Keep smiling

Smiling is the fastest connection or tie that may be set up between two persons. Support your words and cordiality with an affectuous smiling.

10- Pay attention to reactions

Do not ignore the observation of feedbacks while talking and rearrangement of your messages in this direction.

IT IS POSSIBLE TO LEARN MORE THAN ONE FOREIGN LANGUAGE THROUGH THESE METHODS

The foreign language learning that becomes a common problem of every period has already entered in our mobile telephones through computer-aided applications. The Academic Member Dr. Şahin Gök of the Istanbul Gelişim University told about how to take more advantage of those of applications that are in considerable types and numbers.

You may wish to learn a foreign language, attend in courses for it, however, not able to come to the level that you desire. The Academic Member Dr. Şahin Gök of the School of Foreign Languages of the Istanbul Gelişim University told about how to develop the foreign language skill in foreign language educations through 5 alternative methods without following any institution and in the meantime, without being subject to any restriction of time and location.

THERE ARE A LOT OF ADVANTAGES OF LEARNING ENGLISH LANGUAGE FROM HOME

The habits, changed together with the pandemic, proved that it has been possible to learn a foreign language at any environment required without the necessity of time and location. The Academic Member Dr. Şahin Gök, who indicated that it was possible to convert especially the social media addictions into an advantage by learning a foreign language indicated as follows:

“Learning the English language does not mean sitting in a class and study grammar all the time. As a matter of fact, the teachers of the English language generally encourage their students to use the English in various interactive and entertaining ways. There are various numbers of alternatives developing high numbers of your language skills in comprehensive and productive methods. Online applications and websites offer numerous and comprehensive contents of the English and other languages. If you want to carry on your language skills into the next level, you can use the social and media means.”

FOREIGN LANGUAGE EDUCATION SHOULD BE SUPPORTED WITH AUDIO-VISUAL SENSE ORGANS!

The Academic Member Dr. Şahin Gök, who indicated that in the foreign language education, the higher interaction with our audial sense organs at that language will bring that much better and faster learning of the foreign language, listed the 5 alternative ways for an effective foreign language learning as follows;

1. In the 21st century, numerous numbers of people from every part of the world prefer video games for socialization, setting up interaction and entertainment. This may provide a golden key in order to constitute a global social environment.
2. The popularity of the audio books and podcast publications is substantially high in recent years. You can have knowledge in a new language by following or listening these publications appearing to be a mode of interesting entertainment that can be used while serving multi-task(s).
3. At any moment when you feel yourself comfortable, watching a series or film that you enjoy with subtitles in English makes the one be subject to the active use of the said language. This method is significantly effective in the learning of language.
4. Listening to the songs in foreign languages with subtitles is both pleasurable or pleasant and ensures the easy learning of words.
5. The online audio-dictionaries and multi-language translation programs appear to be important supports in language learning.

Mr. Gök also emphasized that the applications where the English or any learned other language, used especially at the social media as a means of communication was useful and should be used.

“NO FALL IN THE NUMBERS OF TOURISTS DUE TO COME FROM RUSSIA”

The Academic Member Dr. Dilbar Guliyeva from the Department of Tourist Guiding of the Istanbul Gelisim University, who made some evaluations within the framework of the Tourism Week with relation to the future of tourism, Ramadan Feast and War between Ukraine-Russia, indicated that the Ramadan Feast would bring activity in the domestic arena (market).

While the world is giving a hard challenge against the Covid-19 epidemic on the one hand, the eyes keep on focusing on the effects, created by the War between Ukraine-Russia, on the other. It is an issue of concern whether there would be a decrease in the numbers of incoming tourists together with the effects of the war of Russia that creates an important source of tourists especially for our country.

RUSSIA-UKRAINE WAR ALSO AFFECTS THE TOURISM

The Academic Member Dr. Dilbar Guliyeva from the Department of Tourist Guiding of the Faculty of Economics, Administrative and Social Sciences of the Istanbul Gelisim University made an evaluation how the activity in tourism might be in Turkey upon arrival of the summer season. Ms. Guliyeva indicated the following:

“Each of two tourists having come to Turkey used to come from Russia or Ukraine. The currently continuing Ukrainian-Russian War seriously affects the tourists in both countries. The struggle of the potential tourists to set up a new life at the refugee sites (camps) as migrants has threatened the existence of the available market in a serious manner and eliminated it in a certain sense; and consequently, this circumstance seriously affects the numbers of tourists, who made reservations long time ago at the accommodation establishment (hotels and so on), located at the regions of Alanya and Antalya, and came for accommodation for a few weeks in other holiday resorts of Turkey. Notwithstanding that the war between Ukraine and Russia has seriously affected the tourists due to come from Ukraine, it does not affect those of tourists due to come from Russia, and it may be possible to observe an increase in the numbers on the contrary.”

“IF THE HOLIDAY OF THE RAMADAN FEAST IS EXTENDED, THERE MAY BE AN INCREASE IN THE NUMBERS OF DOMESTIC TOURISTS”

Ms. Guliyeva, who underlined the cultural and social importance of the Ramadan Feast for the Turkish-Islamic society, indicated that it is inevitable from the point of view of the Ramadan Feast to give a rise in the domestic activity. It is estimated by various experts that there may be serious increases especially in the numbers of domestic tourists in case of extension of the holiday periods. In this context, various numbers of accommodation establishments try to diversify their customers' portfolios with special discounts and attention-distracting promotions.

MOST PREFERRED DESTINATIONS: ANTALYA AND ALANYA

The people, who had to stay at home together with the global Covid-19 epidemic, are expected to engage in touristic activities within the scope of ecotourism along with a holiday preference having the centreline of sand, sun and sea. In this respect, it is possible to say that the regions of Antalya and Alanya will come forth in the first ranks of the most preferred destinations for holiday.

The Academic Member Dr. Dilbar Guliyeva, who emphasized that it was necessary for the tourism industry to equip itself with the innovations of the current era, further indicated that it was necessary to apply the approaches and projects such as TA-TU-TA and so on, integrated with the technology and where the tourist/producer identities were combined with the matter of fact of entertainment instead of the tourist/consumer identities.
