JULY 22

After the announcement of the YKS (Higher Education Institutions Exam) results, it is now time for the preference period. Clinical Psychologist Ünal Erdem Elli, who warned the candidates that they should evaluate this process properly, which will shape their future, stated that the priority should be the profession choice.

YKS results carried out by Student Selection and Placement Center have been announced. With the announcement of the results, the candidate students embarked on a path to determine their future. Clinical Psychologist Ünal Erdem Elli, Psychological Counseling Unit Coordinator at Istanbul Gelisim University gave advice to university candidates entering the preference marathon to evaluate this process well and stated the following: “When making a decision, two things should be taken into account. The technical aspect of the decision is the first component. Creating the preferred list based on the order of the candidates. The other element is if the selection is appropriate for the candidate. Additionally, it is crucial that they obtain information about the professions they want to pursue from counselors and advisor teachers at the career development centers of the institutions they intend to attend before making a preference.”

IT CAN CAUSE HEART ATTACK IF NECESSARY PRECAUTIONS ARE NOT TAKEN

Quality Life Specialist Assoc. Prof. Dr. Haluk Saçaklı, who gives advice on steroid drugs used to build muscle, stated, “Those who try to increase muscle mass by taking steroids should be careful since steroids can cause a heart attack by occluding the arteries leading to the heart.”

MEDICINES USED TO BUILD MUSCLE OCCLUDE THE ARTERY BLOOD VESSELS LEADING TO THE HEART

Assoc. Prof. Dr. Haluk Saçaklı, head of the Department of Exercise and Sports Sciences at Istanbul Gelisim University (IGU) School of Physical Education and Sports, indicated the following:

“Muscles built with anabolic steroids are just muscle mass devoid of strength. When lifting weights, the muscles are overloaded, which can lead to micro tears in the muscle fibers. Lifting heavy weights and performing short sets of low repetitions are required to improve muscular development and strength. Such workouts drive the body to adapt while providing the best micro-tearing for building strength. Some athletes take too many steroids unconsciously to build muscle and mend these microtears. With the help of natural methods and rest, muscle fibers can be restored in 48 hours. Steroid use results in the formation of a muscle mass that lacks strength. However, steroids narrow the arteries that flow to the heart. It may result in a heart attack if the proper precautions are not taken.
