THERE MAY BE A NEW CONNECTION BETWEEN THE BRAIN AND THE SPINAL CORD

NOVEMBER 4

2022

Physiotherapist Gülsah Konakoglu found that there may be a new connection between the vagus, which is the longest nerve in the body that provides the connection between the brain and the internal organs, and the corticospinal that controls motor movements in the brain. Konakoglu also added, "If this information can be proven scientifically, it will lead to a whole new era."
