SDG 4 QUALITY EDUCATION REPORT

QUALITY EDUCATION

IOU for Ecological, Social and Economic Sustainability

About The Report

The 2021 Report prepared by our university for Quality Education, the fourth of the United Nations Sustainability Goals, provides a summary of lifelong learning opportunities that are realized within and outside of our university and offered as a contribution to our students and society. In order to support youth and adulthood, the activities, events and projects carried out together with the academicians of our university and with the support of our external stakeholders are presented under this report. The report also presents the performance of our university for the year 2021 based on the active student and alumni profile.

IOU for Ecological, Social and Economic Sustainability

Acknowledgment

We would like to thank our university's valuable academicians, administrative unit officers, and employees, as well as our dear students and other internal and external stakeholders, who contributed to the content of the Healthy and Quality Life Report with their studies and practices.

3. PROJECTS CONTRIBUTING TO QUALITY EDUCATION

1. Project “Ready Women” (2018-2021)

Project Name: New opportunities for social inclusion of women with disabilities-Ready women for New employments

Project No: 2018-1-ES01- KA204-050765

Project Aim: It is to increase the qualifications of physically disabled adult women and thus their employability level and their integration into the labor market. Within the scope of the project, a digital training platform was developed for emerging sectors and lines of business, as well as for new working methods such as “telework”, that can provide new skills to women with disabilities. The training module developed with 6 modules and 8 languages is currently actively used. For detailed information, please go to the project's web page.

16. Seminar, “The Effect of Hearing on Language and Speech Development”

Researcher Rumeysa Nur AKBAŞ, who attended the seminar, conveyed the following information to the participants: “Hearing is one of the indispensable factors for language and speech. Hearing processes start first by 20th week in the mother's womb. Children begin to hear and listen as soon as they are born. While learning to speak, they imitate the sounds they hear around them. Therefore, normal hearing is essential for healthy language and speech development.”
